

English Language Editing Services

We strongly recommend that authors who are not native English speakers have their manuscripts professionally edited before submission. A professional edit will improve spelling, grammar and punctuation, and this will enable the reviewers to make a clear assessment of the content of your manuscript.

Akkad Center for Economic and Financial Studies offers discounted English editing services. ACEFS will help authors ensure that their paper is suitable for submission offering two levels of service to select from: Copy Editing or Language Editing.

To find out more and access the discounted rate, please contact the editing team at: information@acefs.org.